Gentlemen:

RE: Airline Cell Phones

I am writing to advise you that I am strongly opposed to the use of public cell phones on commercial airline flights. It is one matter when they are used in public places on the ground, where at least people are able to walk away from annoying loud-voiced conversations. In the air, in a confined fuselage, on long flights, the aggravation to others would be greatly compounded.

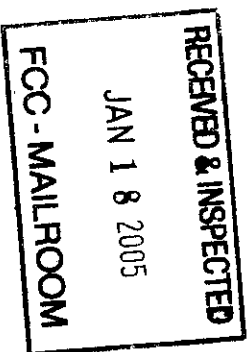

Sincerely,

Dear Sir or Madam,

This is to encourage you to not pass any bills to permit the use of cell phones on air flights by passengers.

Travel is too much fun to be ruined by having to listen to conversations that don't concern me.

Thank you for your diligence.
